

Reggie

Reggie began working as a truck driver after he retired from the military. He makes long trips in his refrigerated truck to the most popular fast food restaurants in his area and is on the road five days a week.

Currently he leases his truck from the company that he works for. His dream is to one day own his own trucks and start a small trucking business.

