

Roberto

Roberto is a migrant worker. As the seasons change he travels to different parts of the country for work.

Roberto's company ships the produce he and his fellow workers pick to different restaurants across the United States.

Roberto is paid by the bushel load so he works hard to fill as many as possible. It's also important for him to work as fast as possible so he can pick the most - that way he will make the most money possible.

